DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 6/24/05 is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 3-4, 7, 9-10, 12-14, and 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Miller et al. (US 2003/0092994).

Miller show the invention as claimed, in the figures and text as: pertaining to claims 3-4, 7, 9-10, 12-14, and 19-20, an ultrasonic diagnostic equipment which performs parallel reception ([0083]-[0087]), wherein when the parallel reception is performed with sector scanning ([0098]) using an array element, a movement track of focus points in reception dynamic focusing is moved in the slanting straight line direction with respect to the transmission direction in relation to transmission focus positions so that a composite beam of a received beam and a transmitted beam is substantially shaped as a straight line at least in areas having shallower depths than the focus position of the transmitted beam (delay and gain control are used to steer and dynamically focus beams, dynamic focusing involving focusing the beams in straight lines, and so the focus points are moved and the beams are straightened, [0083]-[0087], straight lines also visible in Figure 4). Miller also shows delay control ([0083]-[0087]); gain control ([0083]-[0087]); and use of a two-dimensional array ([0083]-[0087]).

Art Unit: 3737

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. Claims 1-2, 5-6, 8, 11, and 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Miller et al. (US 2003/0092994) in view of Banta, Jr. et al. (US 6055861).

Art Unit: 3737

8. Miller shows the invention substantially, in the preceding rejection under 35 USC 102(b).

9. Miller fails to show, with respect to claims 1-2, 5-6, 8, 11, and 15-18, performing linear scanning.

10. Banta teaches, with respect to claims 1-2, 5-6, 8, 11, and 15-18, performing linear scanning and sector scanning (column 4, lines 35-45).

11. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to have performed linear scanning as well as sector scanning as taught by Banta, in the device of Miller, with the motivation that linear scanning will generally produce a higher quality image than a sector scan. Both types of scans have their advantages, and so using both would provide the operator with more information for diagnosis.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See attached Notices of References Cited.
